Dubowsky stars in and provides an energetic, comical score for this day-in-the life of a guy who clearly doesn't want to get up in the morning, then goes through his rather odd schedule in a kind of dull panic. Atmospheric and funny, and full of hilarious touches, from the boot-licking incident to his wannabe-muscleman trip to the gym. It's a little silly but also hugely enjoyable, especially as it gets more and more surreal. Fabulous.

A musical interlude with a cute and breezy rush through the New York subway by the talented (and sadly recently deceased) Todd Wilson.

NYC DILEMMA

In 2002-2003, San Francisco composer Jack Curtis Dubowsky moved to a fifth-floor walk-up in Manhattan's Lower East Side. This semi-vérité musical video by Todd Wilson (Under One Roof), shot entirely in one day, documents the great dilemmas of NYC life. Go to the survival job, or attend a business meeting with a potential client (portrayed by real-life client and director Elizabeth Elson [Born in a Barn])? Eat lunch or scavenge? How hot is it outside? How to afford a gym? And, the greatest mystery of all, if this is an "E train running on the F line," is it an E or an F?

GLITTER: VUOTA, VACUA E SUPERFICIALE?

Parola d'ordine: no brain. Allucinazioni glam, checche isteriche che martirizzano amici poveri, il dramma di come riempire una giornata a NewYork quando sei un musicista d'avanguardia, un lungo ed eccitante gioco di sguardi equivoci tra finestre e abbaini, un corpulento j'accuse ai modelli estetici imperanti, e per concludere un autentico delirio underground di droga e sesso in formato super8, protagonista un aitante giovincello al guinzaglio.
